

Opportunities Week of 3-17-17

Jeffrey Eng Memorial Scholarship: Applications for the Jeffrey Eng Memorial Scholarship in Environmental Sciences are currently being accepted. Applicants should be full-time undergraduate students studying any area of the environmental sciences at Stony Brook University. Applicants should demonstrate academic excellence and promise, as well as financial need. A one-time $500 scholarship will be available to the winning recipient.

Deadline to apply is Friday, March 31st, at 5 PM.

For more info on how to apply, see attached file.

Stony Brook Commuter Assistant Program: The office of Commuter Student Services and Off-Campus Living is currently accepting applications for the Commuter Assistant Program. Commuter Assistants are peer-mentors for 5-10 incoming Freshman and Transfer commuter students, offering support, advice, and friendship to ensure a great college experience. CAs also assist the office with programming and facilitating events, conducting outreach/recruitment, working with other departments, serving on committees and advocating for students.

Deadline for applications is Friday, March 24th

Online applications can be found here: <http://www.tinyurl.com/CAApplication1718>

University of Idaho "Semester in the Wild" Program: Students spend 11 weeks learning ecology, environmental writing, wilderness management, outdoor leadership, and environmental history while in the Idaho wilderness. Students pay Stony Brook tuition for this program.

For more info, go to http://www.uidaho.edu/cnr/wild?utm_medium=print

University of Montana Wilderness and Civilization Program: Combines experiential learning extensive field work and rigorous classes that will end with the student earning a wilderness studies minor. During the program, students spend 30 days in the field learning first hand how the ecology, politics, history and culture of a place shape conservation effort.

For more info, see <http://www.cfc.umt.edu/wi/education/wc/>

Jeffrey Eng Memorial Scholarship 2017

Deadline Friday, March 31, at 5 P.M.

Applications for the Jeffrey Eng Memorial Scholarship in Environmental Sciences are currently being accepted. Applicants should be full-time undergraduate students studying any area of the environmental sciences at Stony Brook University. Applicants should demonstrate academic excellence and promise, as well as financial need. A one-time $500 scholarship will be available to the winning recipient, and the award will be announced around April 17th.

Please submit the following documentation to apply:

- 1) A short statement from the candidate explaining his or her interests in the area of environmental science
- 2) A brief statement explaining financial need and a short resume
- 3) A college transcript (unofficial is acceptable)
- 4) A letter of support from a professor or graduate teaching assistant (sealed in an envelope).

Please submit all applications to Martha Nolan, Secretary of the Ecology and Evolution Department in the Life Sciences Building 650, campus zip Z-5245, with all materials for each candidate together in a single package, clearly marked with the applicant's name and "Eng Scholarship" on the outside envelope.

DEADLINE IS March 31, 5 P.M.